How Gov. Wolf's Proposed 2015-16 Budget Would Impact House District 172

After four years of austerity budgets that made deep cuts to public services, public schools are struggling, property taxes are rising, and Pennsylvania remains near the bottom of state rankings in job growth since 2011. Gov. Wolf has proposed a budget that reinvests in our future by restoring funding for education from pre-K to college and delivering property tax relief to homeowners.

School Districts in House District 172 Would Receive

- $160 million in new funding
- 2,202 new Pre-K slots
- $25 million in savings from standardized payments to cyber charters

Meanwhile, Homeowners Would Receive Property Tax Relief

- The typical homeowner in the district will see a property tax reduction of $1,116
- That's a reduction of 27%

A Drilling Tax Would Raise Millions in New Revenue for Schools and Other Needs

- $5.3 million for the district
- $1.08 billion statewide

Gov. Wolf's Proposed Minimum Wage Increase Would Raise the Wages of

- 5,562 workers in the district
- That's 24% of district workers

Colleges and Universities With Campuses in the District Would Also Receive New Funding

- $15 million in new funding for Temple (statewide)
- $2 million in new funding for Community College of Philadelphia

The Budget and Leveraged Federal Funds Would Also Support Investments in Human Services in the District<sup>1</sup>

- Human services funding increase of $300,558<sup>2</sup>
- 2,327 individuals newly eligible under Medicaid
- 115 more children will receive health coverage under CHIP
- Increased funding for mental health services of $5 million

Gov. Wolf has also proposed that residents of House District 172's district subject to the Philadelphia wage tax will receive a portion of $251 million in tax relief
